

Texas Forest Expo 2008

July 16, 2008

The Texas Forest Service will hold its Texas Forest Expo 2008 on September 27-28 in the Lone Star Convention Center located in Conroe, Texas. The event will cover topics such as land management, wildfire prevention and preparedness, alternate income generation from the land, landscape design, pest and invasive species management, timber and estate taxation, wildlife habitat management, and tree maintenance. All expo exhibitors and vendors will offer interactive booths. Furthermore, a Children's Exploration Room will provide learning stations and activities for children to discover some of the wonders that the forest offers. The whole event is free of charge.
