

February 19, 2010

Texas Woodland and Wildlife Expo

May 1-2, 2010, Conroe, Texas

The Texas Forest Service, U.S. Forest Service, Texas AgriLife Extension, and Texas Parks and Wildlife have partnered to organize this year's Texas Woodland and Wildlife Expo. The goal of this free event is to educate homeowners and landowners about properly managing their property by attracting more wildlife, restoring native vegetation, and much more.

This event offers classes, live demonstrations, and informational booths staffed by industry experts. A range of classes are available for visitors to learn about bird watching, feral hog control, wild turkey restoration, native plants and grasses, and pond management. A Family Outdoor Zone is also provided for children's entertainment and education. This event will take place May 1-2, 2010 from 9 am to 5 pm in Conroe, Texas.

For more information visit: <http://expo.tamu.edu>