The Grove

The Grove is an online community that encourages communities and individuals to plant trees to commemorate special events, creating a living memory as well as contributing to the growth of urban forests. The Grove was originally developed in 2008 by the Georgia Urban Forest Council, the Georgia Forestry Commission, and the U.S. Forest Service, and has recently expanded to a regional website for residents within all 13 Southern states. Residents from each state can go to their individual state's Grove and create a profile, share photos of the trees they have planted, and join the tree groups that have impacted their own community. The Grove website also provides tips on tree selection, planting, and care guidelines.
